COME AND SEE US.

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN COMM.
MILWAUKEE, June 15, 1884.

The Republican State Central Committee has opened convenient and commodious headquarters on Wisconsin street, near the postoffice, in Milwaukee. All republicans and especially those of our state, are cordially invited to call when in the city. All republican papers published in the state, and many of the leading journals of the country, will be kept on file.

Come and see us.

H. A. Taylor, Chm.

C. PAYNE, Sec.

When Hendricks accepted the nomination he accepted another good thrashing. He is a patient martyr to the principles of the party.

No republican paper has yet doubted that Blaine will be elected; nor do democratic paper has said that Cleveland is sure to be elected.

General Butler finds the campaign a sort of a picnic. That is to probus his enemies without any inconvenience to himself. That is always a pleasure for Gen. Butler.

The Wisconsin democrats are in a marked condition of impetuosity. But this is a natural condition of affairs with the democratic party of Wisconsin.

The democrats are finding a good deal of fault with the way Logan is being received on his travels through this country. Well, let them start out Hendricks to counteract it, and see how he will come out.

An uncle of Cleveland's said the other day: "Grove's nomination seems too suddenlike to me." Well, the old gentleman was about right. It was made in haste, but the party will have four years to repeat it.

One of the most remarkable telegraphic feats on record it is said, was the recent delivery of a message from Melbourne, Australia, to London in twenty-three minutes. It went by land and sea, over 13,300 miles of wire.

Professor Tyndall, one of the most noted of scientists, does not know the year of his birth. In this respect he does not differ from very many ladies of the present generation, about whose ages the world will never know anything.

Minnie Palmer brought home from England a lot of red, white and blue jewelry, and she says $10,000. She brought thirty-three pieces of baggage, French servants and a poodle. She did not bring her husband. Actresses and singers seldom do. They came alone and have more fun.

"After all, men and brethren, election day is a long way off. The man who predicts at this stage of the game is not a voter."

The Gazette just wished to make a passing remark that this quotation is from a Cleveland paper, the Springfield Republican. It is an off-hand admission that Cleveland will go under.

The campaign is a good deal like a circus procession. First comes the elephant, which represents the republican party. Then comes the camel—a queer looking animal—which represents the democratic party, except in this, it can go longer without drinking than the democratic party can.

The New York Independent in a second article puts the moral issue raised by the admitted facts in Grover Cleveland's life exactly where it must rest—with each man's conscience. It will rest there most assuredly, and conscience will predominate in this campaign and elect Mr. Blaine.

Here is a big political sermon in a very few lines:

"Vilen and reform"—see cypher despatch.

"Hancock and reform"—see the Morey forger.

"Cleveland and reform"—see Cleveland's letter of acceptance concerning the lucidity of the tariff plank.

Here are two prophecies by the New York Evening Post, which is too morally righteous to support Blaine:

From the Evening Post, "From the Evening Post," April 20th, 1884.

"There can be no doubt that the time is now ripe for the nation to turn its back on the tariff, and to give the people a chance for being the same touched its highest point for that year, and United States are waiting to see what may have been the result of the success in the National Convention has passed away."

It will be soon from the hope that is thickly floating in the air, that Blaine's chances are waning in the same manner.

Mr. W. F. Williams, of Evansville, the nominee for county clerk, is at present at the Post last April.

The Century Magazine will evidently feel the loss of Mrs. Frances Hodges Burnett on that sterling publication. The rupture is said to have been brought about in this way: Her last novel, "Through One Administration," was found to contain an altogether too lifelike portrait, and not an amiable one either, of a certain savant who had infinite professional and social relations with the "Century" itself. Mrs. Burnett was told thereof, and a change in the story was insisted upon. It was made, and then the author is reported to have refused all further contributions.

Mr. Cleveland is reported to be "out of the woods" at last. Immediately after his nomination he took his little gun and went into the Adirondack region to kill wild cats and "other deer," and has just emerged laden with the spoils of the chase. In the solemn hush of the primeval forest there was nothing to break the echo of his late-toned voice as he enrolled "Baby Mine." The busy hum of civilization must strike discordantly on his ears, as long used to caught but nature's sweet symphony. But he will not have to endure it long. By the time the polls of his game are tanned the people will have tanned him also, and he can seek again that sweet retirement where no man comes to lead by devious paths his unwary feet stay.

The probate court of Cook county has appointed Mr. A. L. Patterson conservator of the estate of Mr. W. F. Storey, proprietor of the Chicago Times. Mr. Storey has been in ill-health for some time, and in some respects is mentally incapable to give any attention to the business of the Times. Mr. Patterson was for many years the confidential employee and agent of Mr. Storey, and has been the general manager of the Times office since Mr. Storey's ability. Being a faithful and energetic man and personally familiar with the business details of the office, his appointment to this trust is peculiarly appropriate, and ought to be satisfactory to all concerned. Mr. Charles R. Donot, who has been the managing editor of the Times for some years, will continue to give direction to its editorial course. The Times will keep on in the tenor of its way under the guidance of Mr. Donot, and will continue to be the great newspaper of the west.

THE QUESTION IN A NUTSHELL.

Here is the tariff question in a nutshell, and the Gazette asks the attention of workmen to the facts here given. Only a few days ago, Congressmen Rice of Massachusetts, and an English gentleman of his acquaintance has a good factory and a fine clear village around it not far from Boston. He left a brother in England, who is also a large manufacturer, and is immensely rich. This gentleman came to this country a short time ago to visit his brother, and brought some of his cloth with him. Holding it out to his brother, he says: "Tom, do you make as good cloth as this?"

"Yes," said Tom. "What does it cost you?" was the next question.

Tom told him. "Oh, well," says the visiting brother, "I can make it for —," naming a sum a little less, "and when Cleveland is elected president, and the Democrats abolish the tariff, I am going to sell it here in place of yours."

"No, you will not," said the brother. "My workmen will never consent to live on bread, beer and cheese. They want good beef-steak. They will never do that for free trade."

The whole question of the meaning of the tariff could not be more practically stated than in this conversation. Pull down the tariff barriers, and England would be happy indeed, but the American workmen would be driven to the cave of gloom. American workmen want more than bread, beer and cheese. They want beef-steak for dinner, and the comforts of a home that are denied the working people of Europe, and when they vote this fall, a very large majority of these men will vote for Blaine who is a vote for the American system of protecting the homes of the working people.

THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The republican county convention which met on Friday, made some excellent nominations. The impression got abroad that there would be lively music in the convention discourse by the various candidates for nomination; but the crowds of spectators were disappointed, and in point of fact the convention was one of the most hush-mous—controlled by a spirit of good feeling—the republicans of Rock county overdid.

As a matter of course, the office which demanded the greatest attention and created the liveliest interest was that of sheriff. There were several strong candidates, but the contest was not as prolonged as was expected. Mr. George Hawthorn, being chosen by a large majority on the first formal ballot.

Mr. Hawthorn lives in the town of Johnstown, where he has been a resident for more than 21 years. He came to Rock county without a dollar and without friends to push him onward. He went to work as a farm hand, and by dint of hard labor and wise economy he has succeeded in owning one of the best farms in Rock county. He has been on the county board a number of years, and is well known throughout the country. He is as solid in integrity as he is in physique and finances, and will make one of the best sheriffs Rock county ever had.

Mr. W. F. Williams, of Evansville, the nominee for county clerk, is at present already at work "decimating" many of the damaged places.

A TERRIBLE RUMOR.

News has been received that Carnal Hill, is in ruins, but the report cannot be authenticated as all communication with that place is suspended.

The storm extended to Henderson and Unkentown, where large warehouses and buildings were unroofed and demolished.

Destruction in Illinois.

CARLISLE, Ill., Aug. 28.—This morning Carnal and surrounding country was visited by a terrible rain and wind storm, which lasted nearly one hour and did a great amount of damage to property, and caused the loss of several lives. In this city no serious damage was done, several houses being slightly injured. Reports from the country, however, show that the storm caused serious results. The dwelling of William Ziegler, a German farmer, living a half mile south of here, was struck by lightning. The house took fire and was burned to the ground. Some of his children were seriously injured by the shock, one of whom will recover, while the other will probably die. The wife of John Hoben, Sr., a German shoemaker, was visiting at Carlisle, and was killed by the shock. Centerville, a small village situated north of here, was almost demolished.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—The storm, which began in the village nine miles northeast, several houses and barns were badly damaged. Crossville, seven miles above here, on the Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific railroad, received considerable damage. From all over the county reports are coming in of the damage. Seven houses and as many barns belonging to farmers in different parts of the town were destroyed. The dwelling of Sylvester Fisher, at Centerville, was blown down, killing one child and badly injuring two others. His wife also received injuries which are deemed to be fatal. The growing corn is badly damaged by being blown down, which, together with the drought, will make the crop very short.

Germany intends to raise a corps of regular soldiers for colonial service, as the Prussian military system will allow no "regulars" and "irregulars."

The corps will be composed of 100,000 men, and will be furnished with equipment.

The German government has issued a proclamation forbidding quite an addition to the military forces.

At 4:30 p.m. the first movement in the grand battle was made by Capt. Parker and a company of the First regiment, deploying to the right. As the boys in blue dashed to the left wing of the rebels, the first gun was fired by the attacking forces, which was promptly answered by the men in the fort. Then the rebels from both sides advanced, the rebels occupying a small hill to the left of the fort. The rebels did not cross the main body of the rebels, but advanced upon the fort, and charged unmercifully upon the walls of musketry, as well as the heavy guns, formed quite an addition to the military spectacle. The flank movements by both the attacking and defending forces were excellently executed, and the evolutions of the ranks were as precise as could be desired by even the "regulars."

Every one of the 600 men in the commanding parties was provided with forty rounds of cartridges, and 120 shots were fired from each gun. To give the spectators still more of a military character, the rebels had been provided with a band, which played "The Star Spangled Banner" and "The Victors."

At 5:30 p.m. the rebels retreated beyond the fort, and the rebels were called upon to surrender, the attack having reached the ditch already. But the rebels refused, the fight was taken up again, and for nearly an hour it raged, until finally the rebels surrendered. The rebels were carried toward the fort by the Union men, and the rebels were called upon to surrender, the attack having reached the ditch already.
